“KEY PERIODONTAL & IMPLANT INSIGHTS THAT EVERY DENTIST SHOULD KNOW, PT. 2”

THIS LECTURE WILL PROVIDE GENERAL DENTISTS AND SPECIALISTS WITH A FRESH COLLECTION OF PRACTICAL INSIGHTS IN PERIODONTICS AND IMPLANT DENTISTRY FEATURING NEW CLINICAL CASES, TOPICS, AND TREATMENT CONCEPTS. THROUGH CASE-BASED DISCUSSION, ATTENDEES WILL EXPLORE A VARIETY OF PERIODONTAL AND IMPLANT CHALLENGES WITH AN EMPHASIS ON CLINICAL DECISION-MAKING, TREATMENT PLANNING, HARD AND SOFT TISSUE MANAGEMENT AND STRATEGIES FOR IMPROVING TREATMENT PREDICTABILITY. THE GOAL IS TO PROVIDE ATTENDEES WITH NEW PERSPECTIVES AND ACTIONABLE STRATEGIES TO ENHANCE PATIENT CARE AND ACHIEVE PREDICTABLE LONG-TERM TREATMENT OUTCOMES. THIS PROGRAM WILL FEATURE NEW CASES AND TOPICS AND IS DESIGNED TO COMPLEMENT RATHER THAN REPEAT MATERIAL PRESENTED AT THE PREVIOUS LECTURE EVENT.

DR. JOHN P. KIM

Dr. John Kim began his education by receiving his undergraduate degree with honors in Biology from the University of Virginia in 1999. He earned his D.M.D. degree from the Harvard School of Dental Medicine in 2003. In 2006, Dr. Kim earned his Masters of Science in Periodontology as well as his Certificate of Advanced Study in Periodontology from the University of North Carolina (UNC) School of Dentistry at Chapel Hill. Dr. Kim's 3-year residency emphasized dental implants, bone grafting, gum grafting, periodontal regeneration, sinus grafting and cosmetic surgery.

During his studies and training in dental school, Dr. Kim was actively involved in research. At Harvard, his research focused on implant survival and risk factors.

Dr. Kim actively participates in a wide range of training activities both nationally and internationally, including conducting hands-on courses and delivering lectures at conferences, seminars, and webinars. He is known as an expert on guided bone regeneration, implant therapy, and soft tissue grafting.
